

ABOUT

FOR WOMENKIND

May 2023

Lauzi Tembo of Mwabu with students in Luumbo, Zambia. Credit: Mwabu, 2023

N50'S 'FOR WOMENKIND' POWERS UP WITH N50 PARTNERS

"For WomenKind" is N50's team of women thought leaders who support the design implementation, monitoring and evaluation of digital participation projects that advance the interests of women and girls. May 30th marked the first convening of powerful women leaders, currently representing 18 N50 Partners.

This network of women will be working together to share knowledge and best practices to develop coordinated, gender-informed action across organizations, and throughout the world.

This monthly gathering will focus on ways to exponentially increase gender digital equity efforts through access and opportunities through education, healthcare, leadership and economic security in N50 Projects.

The N50 For WomenKind represent a diverse collective of experiences and is uniquely positioned to provide insights and tactical guidance to improve the impact of N50 Projects on women and girls.

Dr. Revi Sterling (left) will present to the For WomenKind group on June 27th. Picture taken in lanet Umoja, Kenya with local high school student, Mariah.

Starting next month on June 27th, the For WomenKind speaker series will launch and Dr. Revi Sterling, Senior Technical Director, Digital Inclusion at CARE; Adjunct Professor, Columbia University will present on "How technologists are failing women – a look at the growing gender digital divide."

The speaker series will be open to all interested N50 Partners, including male advocates to advance the necessary work around gender digital equity. N50 Partners committed to learning together and reflecting together help accelerate practice and policy that can have an impact immediately.

"N50 Projects are a natural way to implement concrete actions to increase the participation and the voices of women and girls."

*-Dr. Erin Bown-Anderson,
Geeks Without Frontiers*

N50 Partners are encouraged to join the team of women-leaders or the Speaker series. Consider women leaders in your organization, and how they might also get involved with the N50 community through this opportunity. To receive your invitation to the For WomenKind speaker series, (open to all) complete the following form:

<https://forms.gle/de9jZedJ7NESdHsU9>

If you have questions or want to learn more, contact Erin Bown-Anderson at erin@geekswf.org.

